Protect Yourself from Earthquakes and Tsunamis

Preliminary measures

- Fix furniture to prevent it from falling over.
- Do not place furniture or bookshelves in a position where they will fall on the bed or futon.
- Avoid putting things on top of furniture.
- Keep a pair of shoes in the bedroom.

Last-minute measures

Earthquakes can occur suddenly. Take the above preliminary measures and prepare stockpiles, also prepare emergency bags and renew their contents on a regular basis.

When disaster strikes

It is very difficult to act calmly when a major earthquake actually occurs. However, a split-second decision can make the difference between life and death. To avoid panicking and act calmly in the event of an earthquake, remember the following patterns of behavior.

When the shaking stops (1-2 minutes)

- Open doors and windows to secure escape routes.
- Check the safety of your family members.
- Wear shoes to protect your feet.
- Prepare an emergency bag.

3 minutes

- Fire prevention and initial fire extinguishing. If a fire breaks out, tell people around you in a loud voice.
- Check the safety of your neighbors. Especially, talk to elderly people who live alone.

5 minutes

- Gather information by radio or smartphone.
- Evacuate if there is a danger of a house collapsing or other danger.
- If your house is not in danger of collapsing and you are safe from tsunamis, stay at home.

5-10 minutes

- Turn off the breaker to prevent fires from starting.
- Refrain from talking on phones. Use the Disaster Message Board or Message Dial.

10 minutes to several hours

- Fire fighting and rescue. Cooperate with others to extinguish fires, rescue and evacuate people.
- Tsunami evacuation. Evacuate if your surroundings are evacuating or if a tsunami warning has been issued.

For about 3 days

- Be on the lookout for aftershocks.
- Gather information on disasters and damage.
- Do not enter broken houses or buildings that may collapse.

Evacuee Life

Preparing for Heavy Rain and Flooding

Preliminary measures

- Check the hazard map for possible flooding.
- Pay attention to the long-term forecast of heavy rainfall.

Last-minute measures

- Clean out gutters, drains, and rain gutters to improve drainage.
- If heavy rain is forecast and flooding is a concern, prepare sandbags (available at home improvement stores, etc.).

When disaster strikes

- Evacuate before flooding occurs! If you feel in danger of flooding or other danger, evacuate as soon as possible even if the city has not announced a Level 3 evacuation for the elderly, Level 4 evacuation order, etc.

- Don't evacuate by car. If you must evacuate by car, stay away from underpasses as they may be flooded.

- Stay away from rivers. Rivers swollen by heavy rains are very dangerous and should never be approached.

Prepare an Emergency Kit!

If your home is damaged by a disaster, you will need to evacuate to a safe place and live as an evacuee. Pack a backpack with the items you will need for the time being and be prepared to take them with you at any time.

Food and Beverage

- Foods that can be stored for a long time (ex. retort pouch)
- Drinking water

Sanitary Supplies
